

Radnor welcomes Rod Oscroft

Rod has spent the last 25 years investing in the UK Smaller Company segment where he sought out undervalued companies and invested for the long term.

Rod started his Investment Management career at Hermes and then for the last 20 years at Legal and General Investment Management. At L&G he managed the c.£1bn UK Smaller Companies Fund and was also Head of Active Equities, responsible for c.£8bn in assets. He has significant experience in building open relationships with management teams and engaging on numerous topics and corporate events from remuneration through to Board structure, management change, IPO, M&A and fundraisings.

As a Senior Consultant, Rod will be working with Radnor's clients, advising on how the companies are positioning themselves in the market, their equity stories and providing a fund manager's perspective on a broad range of capital markets issues.
